

Always moving forward.

The Smarter by 1 Degree identity, kept exactly as it is and given momentum. The same navy and graduation mark, now with a signal color, a sense of motion, and a system the whole team can use.

- Primary Degree Navy
- Signal Azure
- Type Archivo + Hanken
- WASC Accredited

One degree of motion.

A trusted, accredited identity that finally feels like it's going somewhere.

— THE IDEA

Trust you can feel. Momentum you can see.

Smarter by 1 Degree already owns the credibility, accredited, advised, real degrees. What it has been missing is energy: the feeling that a student here is moving, gaining ground, getting ahead. Momentum keeps every ounce of the existing trust and adds the one thing the category never shows: forward motion. Navy holds the ground. Azure carries the action. Everything leans ahead.

— WHAT CHANGES VS. CORNERSTONE

- Adds Signal Azure
a single bright action color, never replacing navy.
- A motion language
arrows, progress, left-to-right reveals.
- Warmer, rounder UI
softer radii, more air, friendlier body type.
- Same logo, same trust
the mark and accreditation are untouched.

The logo, untouched

Your logo is the anchor of trust, so it never changes. Momentum lives everywhere around it. Keep clear space, keep contrast, and on dark or busy fields set the full-color mark on a clean white field.

PRIMARY ICON

HORIZONTAL LOCKUP

ON NAVY · WHITE FIELD

- Clear space
Keep space equal to the cap height on every side.
 - Do
Place on white, cloud, or a white field over color.
- Minimum size
Icon ≥ 28px, horizontal logo ≥ 120px wide on screen.
 - Don't
Recolor, redraw, stretch, or set straight onto a photo.

Navy grounds it. Azure moves it.

Strategy: committed. Navy carries most of the brand. Azure is the signal, reserved for action and motion, never wallpaper. Neutrals are tinted toward navy so nothing feels cold.

*Use Azure for large UI and buttons (white text passes AA). For small body text on white, use Navy or Graphite, Azure is a signal, not a paragraph color.

Archivo, with Hanken Grotesk

Archivo is the voice of the wordmark: heavy, geometric, confident, used for every headline and label. Hanken Grotesk is its warmer counterpart for body and UI, friendly enough for a teenager, clear enough for a parent.

Aa

Motion that means progress

Momentum is not decoration, it is the brand's one rule made visible: every student is moving forward. Motion always travels the same way, ahead, and always eases out, never bounces.

Progress, made visible

Show how far a student has come. Progress tracks fill navy-to-azure, left to right.

Forward cues

The azure arrow is the brand's gesture. On hover it nudges forward, never back.

Real students, real momentum

Bright, candid, and diverse. Students mid-action, working together, looking ahead, never stiff stock poses. Natural light, warm skin tones, screens and notebooks in use.

Working together, mid-momentum

Hands-on, screens in use

- Do
Candid action, eye contact, daylight, diverse faces.
- Treatment
A subtle navy duotone or azure accent is welcome for hero crops.
- Don't
Cheesy thumbs-up, empty lecture halls, gray cubicles.

Your momentum

Confident, warm, always forward

Work smarter.
Get a degree ahead.

We speak to teenagers like capable adults and to parents like partners. Encouraging, never pushy. We sell momentum, not fear.

Say	There's a better way to do high school.
Say	A real, accredited degree, debt-free.
Say	You're already moving. Let's go further.
Not	Don't fall behind. (fear)
Not	Revolutionary synergistic learning. (jargon)
